Dean: Professor A Lewis

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

Anih, Samuel Igbokwe Thesis Title: Waste-stream management optimization in long-duration crewed space missions

Samuel Anih holds an MSc in Space Science from the International Space University, Strasbourg, France. He started his PhD programme at SpaceLab, Department of Electrical Engineering, UCT, in 2017 after working as a scientific officer at the African Regional Centre for Space Science and Technology Education in English in Ile-Ife, Nigeria.

Samuel Anih's thesis assessed previous and current crewed space missions with a focus on waste-stream management strategies. He then investigated and characterized the various waste management technologies proposed for future long-duration crewed space missions to deep- space destinations such as the Moon, near-Earth asteroids and Mars. Next, he carried out decomposition of waste simulants derived from the proposed missions with high enthalpy inductively-heated plasma generators inside a very low pressure plasma wind tunnel using oxygen and nitrogen operational gases with various measurements focused on stagnation point of the tests for ablation and spectroscopy. Results from the decomposition process provided information on waste simulant mass loss, effective decomposition energy and identification of useful gaseous species.

His thesis demonstrates the application of high enthalpy inductively- heated plasma generators for waste-stream decomposition with potential for overall mass reduction in crewed spacecraft, heating and propulsion during future long-duration crewed space missions.

Kunene, Avela Thesis Title: Understanding the promotion of aerobic oxidation of benzyl alcohol over Pt-based catalysts

Avela Kunene completed her BSc(Hons) in Chemistry and MScEng in Chemical Engineering at UCT, and began her full-time study towards her PhD in 2015.

Avela Kunene's thesis explores and reports aspects of green chemistry in the industrially important liquid-phase aerobic alcohol oxidation process. In particular, the role of water as a solvent in the alcohol oxidation over heterogeneous Pt-based catalyst was critically evaluated. Water is not only a solvent and dispersant, but crucially also accelerates the oxidation of the investigated model compound, benzyl alcohol. The promotional effects associated with H<sub>2</sub>O in alcohol oxidation were further investigated considering the nature of the metal oxide support material and bimetallic platinum-containing system.
Finally, she concluded that the use of H<sub>2</sub>O for alcohol oxidation enhances the reaction rate, through the formation of surface OH species. These surface OH species forms a crucial element in the enhancement of the overall catalytic activity. The findings will be essential for rational design and sustainable industrial alcohol oxidation processes.

Welcome, Wamkelekile, Welkom – today is not the end of your relationship with the university but the beginning of a new phase in your continuing relationship with UCT, one that you share with the UCT community of over 100 000 alumni. Diverse as this community is, the shared experiences of a critical academic ethos and a spectacular campus make for a strong network that has a wide footprint, not only in South Africa, but across the continent and the globe.

We set a great store by our links with our alumni, and indeed the links alumni have with each other. We promise that we will be in touch, and ask you in turn to let us know not only your current contact details but also, from time to time, something of your lives and where you are in your careers.

*Updates can be done on the web – <http://www.uct.ac.za/dad/alumni/update/>
- or by writing to the Alumni Office, UCT, PB X3 Rondebosch 7701 or by contacting us on (27) (21) 650 3746.*

Your alma mater looks forward to welcoming you back, whether to a public lecture, a leadership forum, your class reunion, or just an informal call!
