PULMONOLOGY UPDATE 2025

The University of Cape Town Division of Pulmonology will be reviving the Pulmonology Update symposium in 2025. This will be held on Saturday 12th and Sunday 13th April 2025 in the lecture theatres at Groote Schuur Hospital.

The focus will be on updates and advances in rapidly evolving areas in respiratory medicine. Speakers will be experts in the various fields from local faculty members and selected invited speakers.

Topics will be directed at those with an interest in pulmonology and will be practical in nature. A wide range of material will be presented and will include asthma, COPD, respiratory infections including TB and pneumonia, respiratory critical care, sleep medicine, interstitial lung diseases, smoking cessation and interventional pulmonology. We are also planning to have meet-the-expert/practical sessions to cover office spirometry and interpretation, chest ultrasonography, and possibly an interventional pulmonology topic.

Presentations and practical sessions will be directed at a target audience of medical specialists, both generalists and pulmonologists, medical and subspecialist registrars in training, and general practitioners.
